Design Portfolio 2025

Hello. I'm Marais, and after a brief, confusing detour into the worlds of formulaic engineering and the dark arts of insurance commission, I'm now where I belong.

Grounded by my passion for Informatics, I run a one-man design studio with one goal: to cut the complexity and deliver fast, low-BS websites that actually work for people. It turns out, mixing logic and creativity is much more fun than selling someone a retirement plan.

Get a Quote

Learn More

This was the first commercial site I ever built, and I'll be honest: it was terrible. It was a mess of bad structural decisions, clashing colours, and a user flow that felt like a maze. The client deserved better, and I knew I had to scrap the architecture entirely. My mission was clear: apply everything I've learned since to deliver a fast, functional, and visually clean site.

Key Design Decisions

Conversion Optimization

Moved the primary CTAs ("Get a Quote") from a passive location to a high-impact position below the value proposition. Immediate action needed.

Visual Trust

Replaced the generic, dark machinery image with bright, clean branded product imagery (the mugs) and injected the Google Rating directly into the hero section. Trust is built instantly.

Information Hierarchy

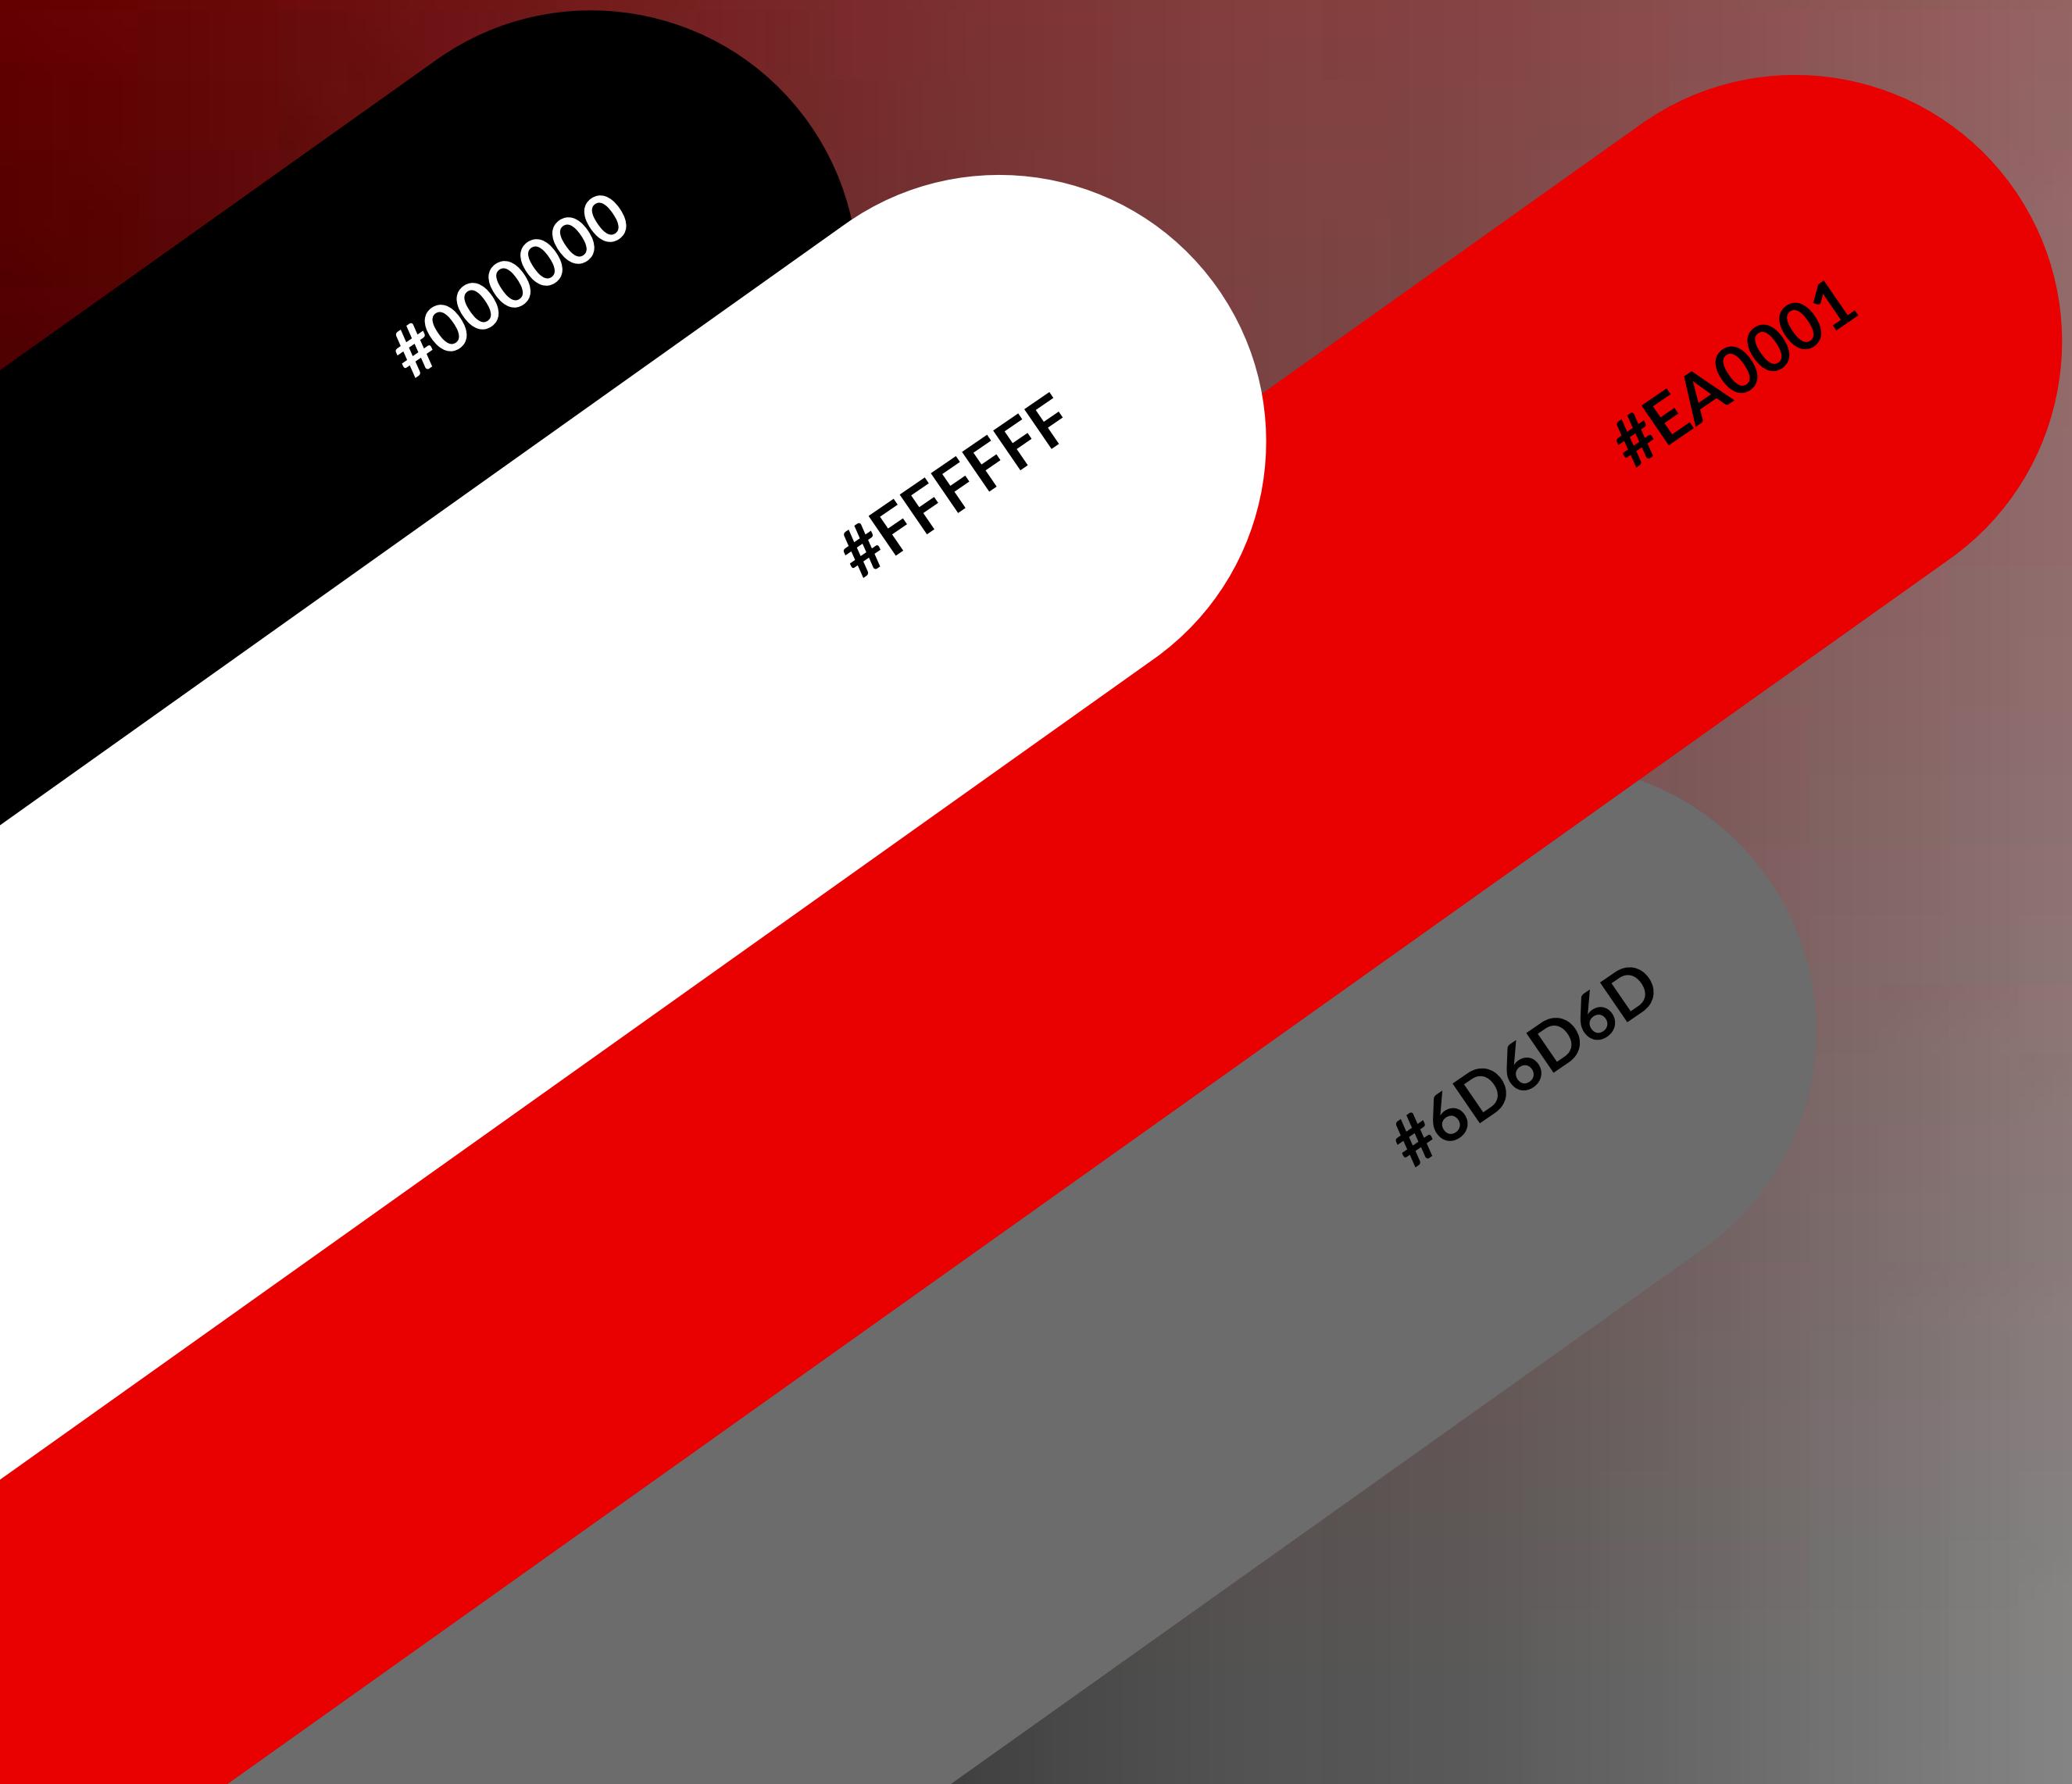

Simplified the main navigation and shifted the headline focus from a generic phrase to a value-driven statement for immediate user relevance.

Clutter Elimination

Adopted a high-contrast color palette to make the design feel modern, professional, and trustworthy, ditching the initial clashing colors.

Complex Form Simplification

Integrated the complex Quote Request Form by breaking it into a simple, multi-step process with clear progress indicators, turning a frustrating task into a manageable checklist.

CMS INTEGRATION

STC Motion

After the learning curve of my first project, I approached STC Motion with a proper strategic plan. Their existing site was outdated and didn't convey their expertise. The goal was to build a site that immediately evoked trust, professionalism, and innovation to set them apart in the engineering consultancy industry.

Key Design Decisions

User-Centric Priority

Designed for a modern, user-centric aesthetic that prioritizes usability and accessibility.

Trust & Confidence

Used a design aesthetic that evokes trust and confidence by conveying professionalism and innovation.

Accessibility Standards

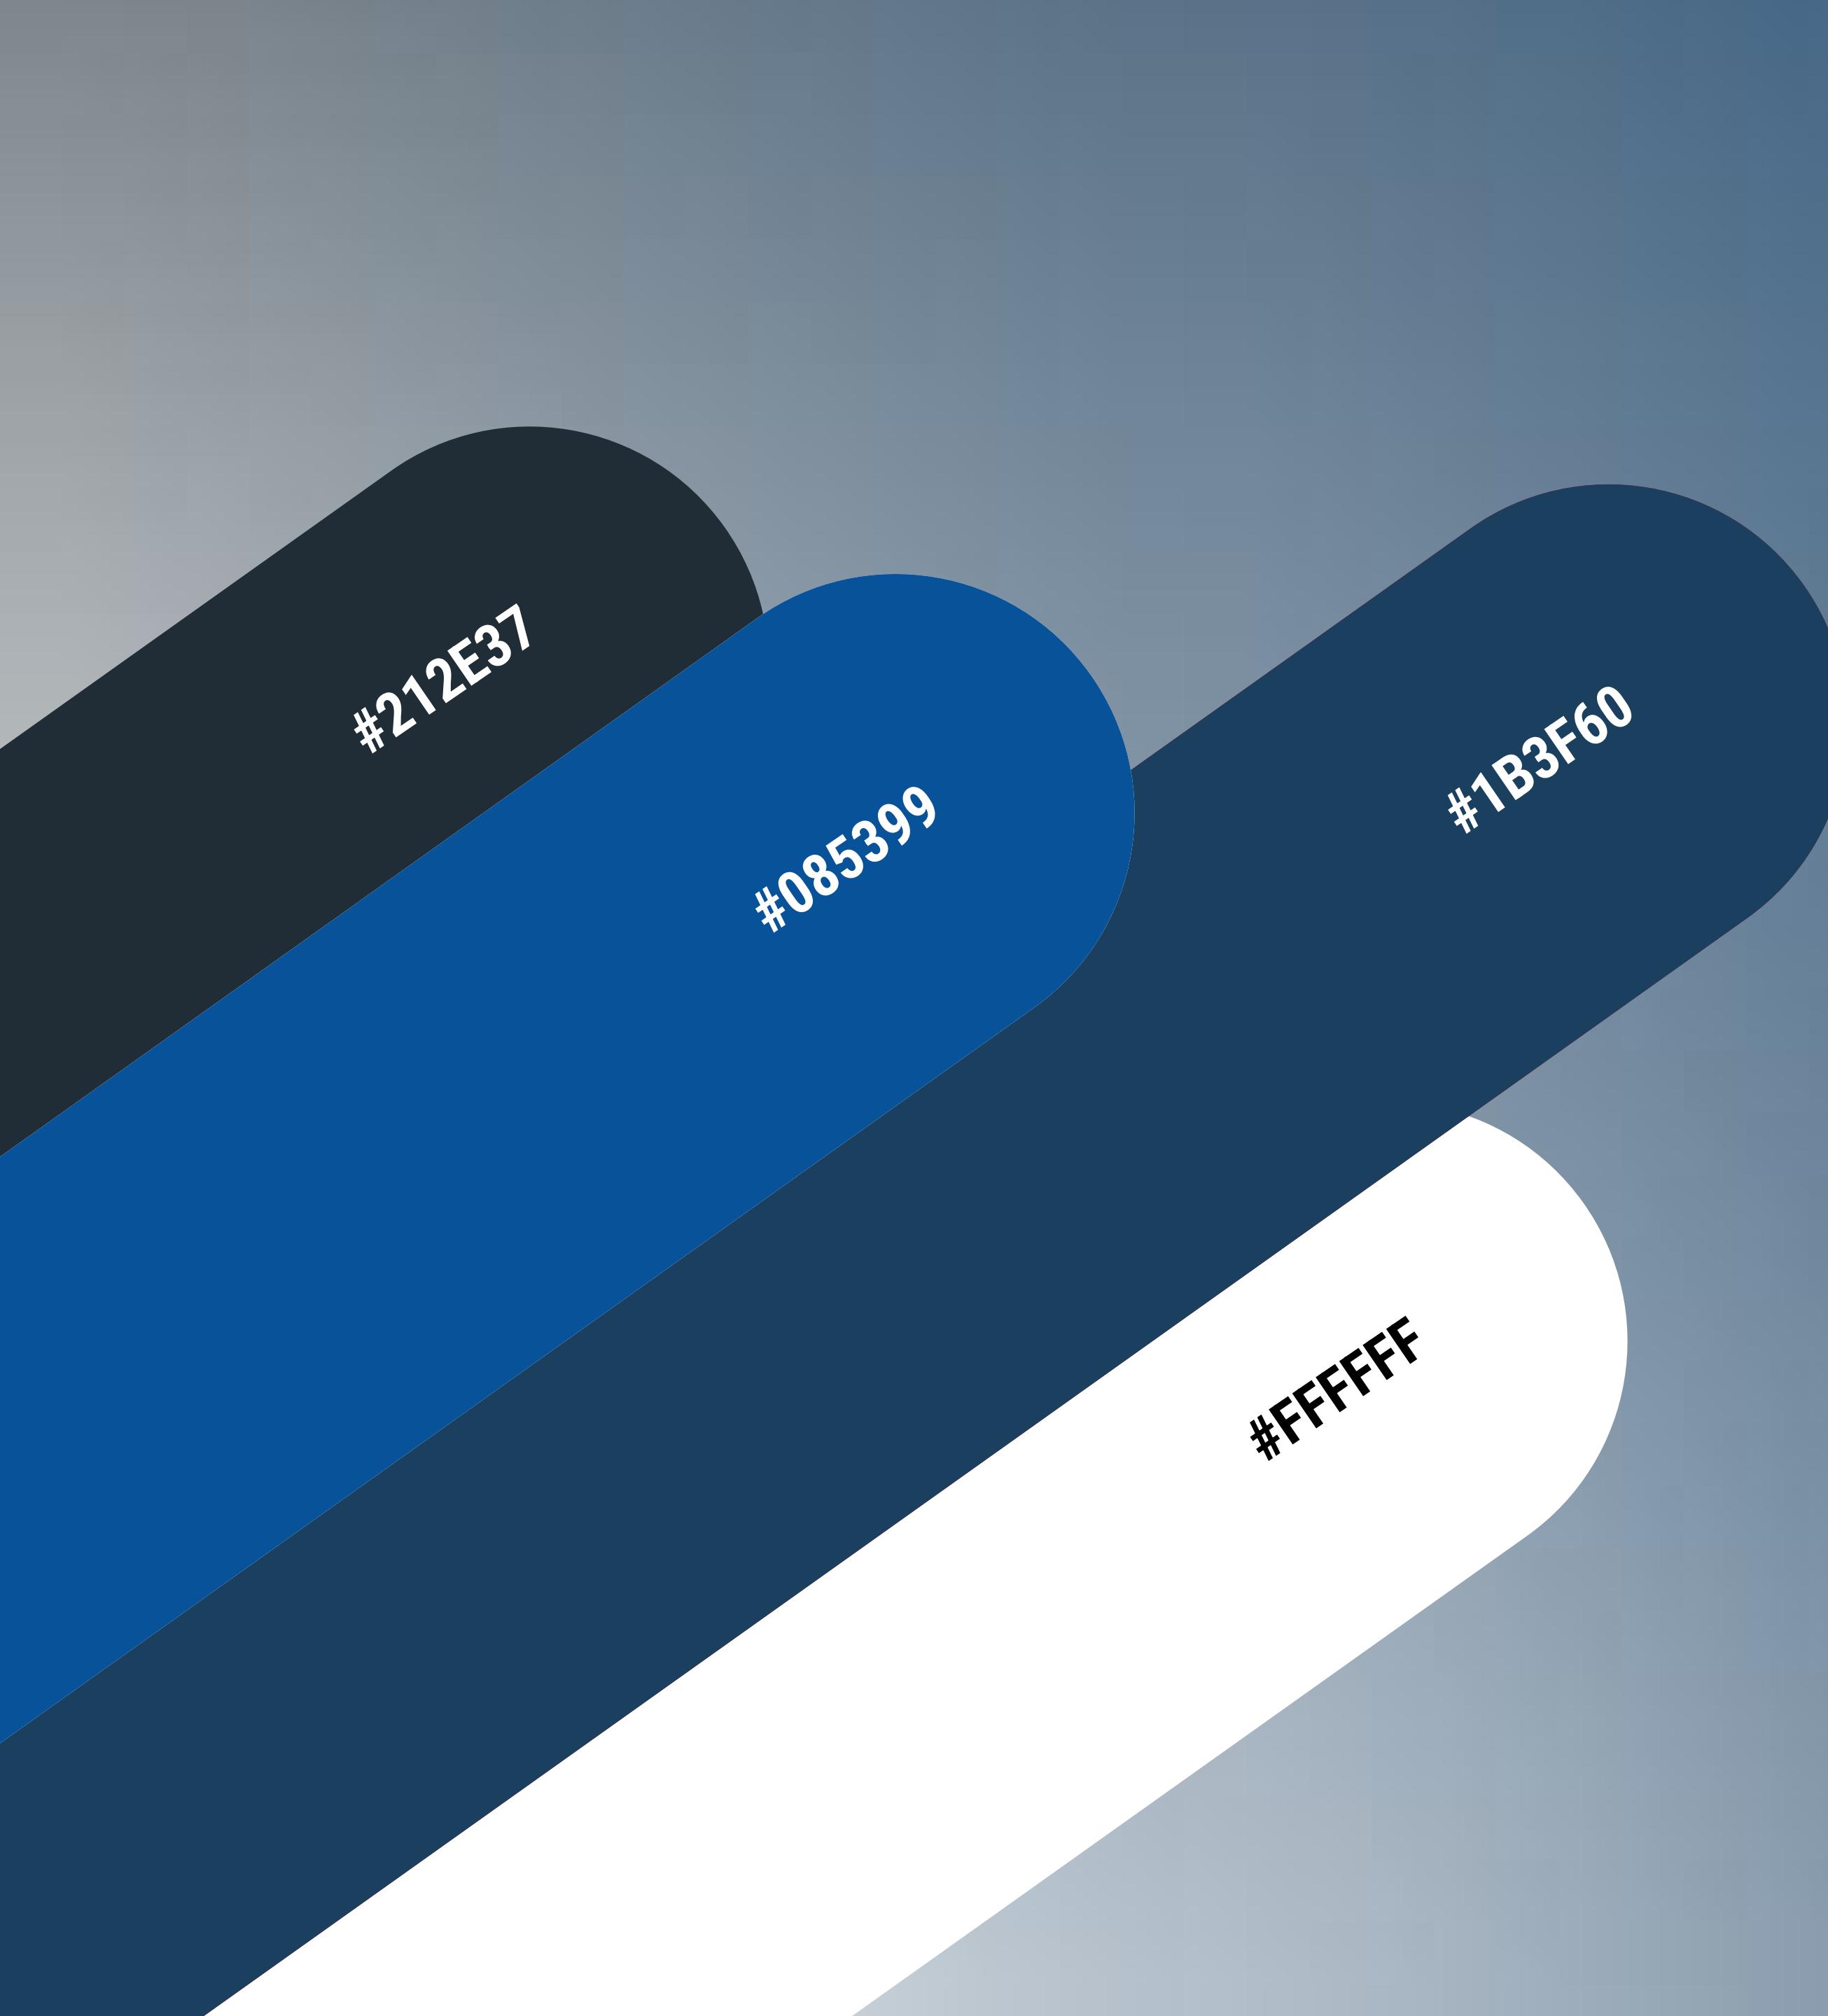

Implemented WCAG 2.1 features, specifically ensuring color contrast of 4.5:1 for normal text and clear focus indicators.

Scalable Future

Designed a layout that is future-ready to easily accommodate updates and expansion.

Navigation & CTAs

Ensured a clear and intuitive navigation structure to effortlessly guide users , with strategically placed visually distinct CTAs (e.g., "Book Consultation").

The image shows a large smartphone displaying the STC Motion website's homepage. The header features the company logo and navigation links. The main content area includes a section titled 'Comprehensive Engineering Consultancy Services Tailored For Success' with a brief description and two call-to-action buttons ('Book consultation' and 'Learn more'). Below this is a section titled 'Your Trusted Partner In Structural And Civil Engineering' with a similar description and call-to-action buttons. A large image of a modern building under construction is displayed on the right side. At the bottom, there are three boxes: 'A Legacy Of Engineering Excellence' (with a sub-section for 'Structural Engineering Services'), 'Our Mission' (with a sub-section for 'Commercial & Industrial Structural Assessments'), and 'Our Vision' (with a sub-section for 'The Values That Guide Us'). Each box contains a brief description and icons representing its purpose.

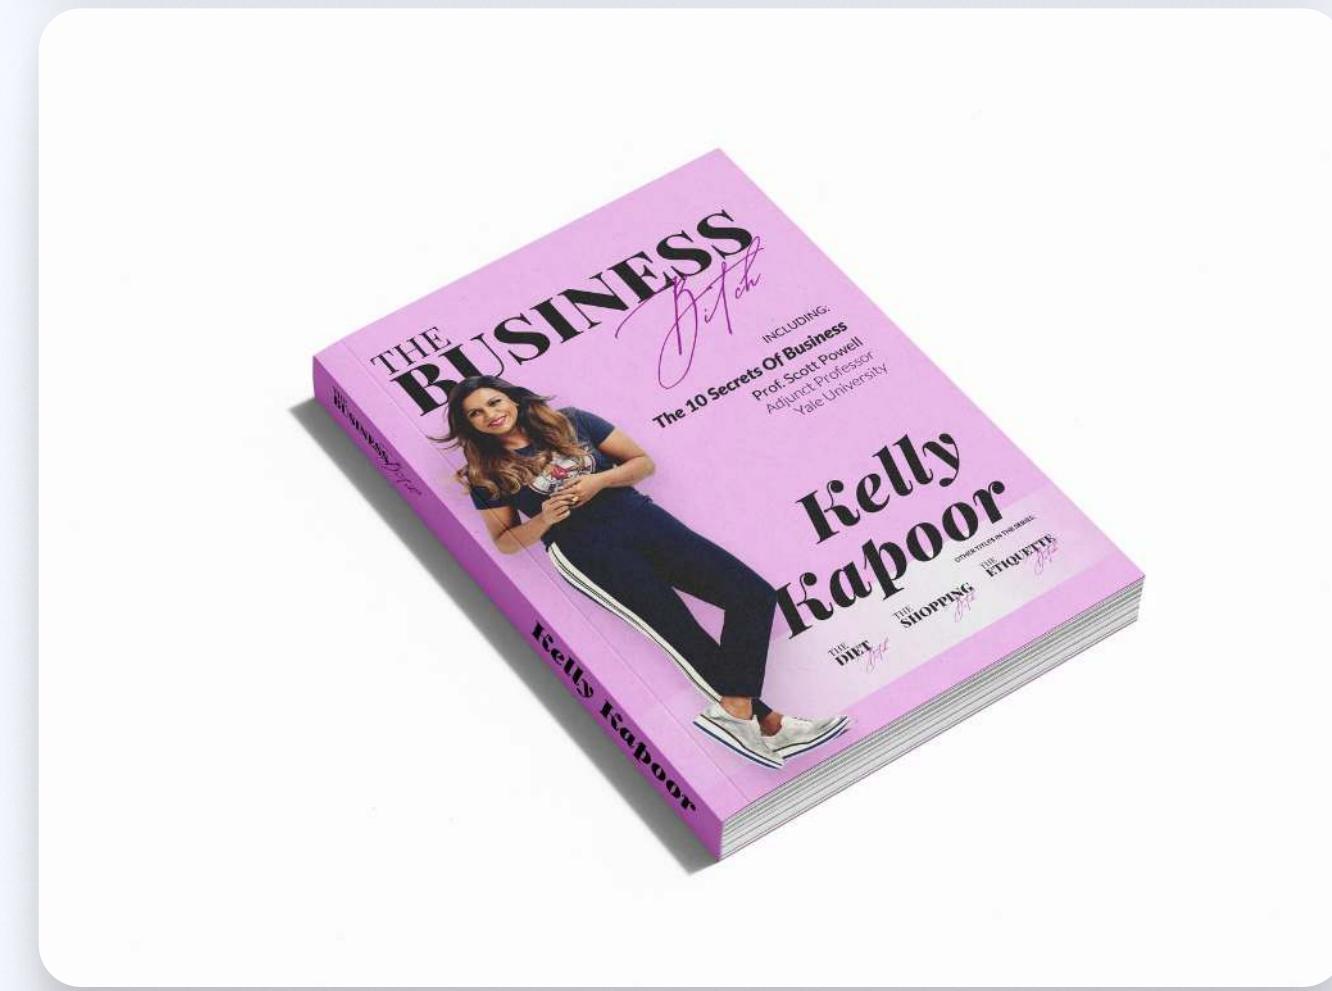

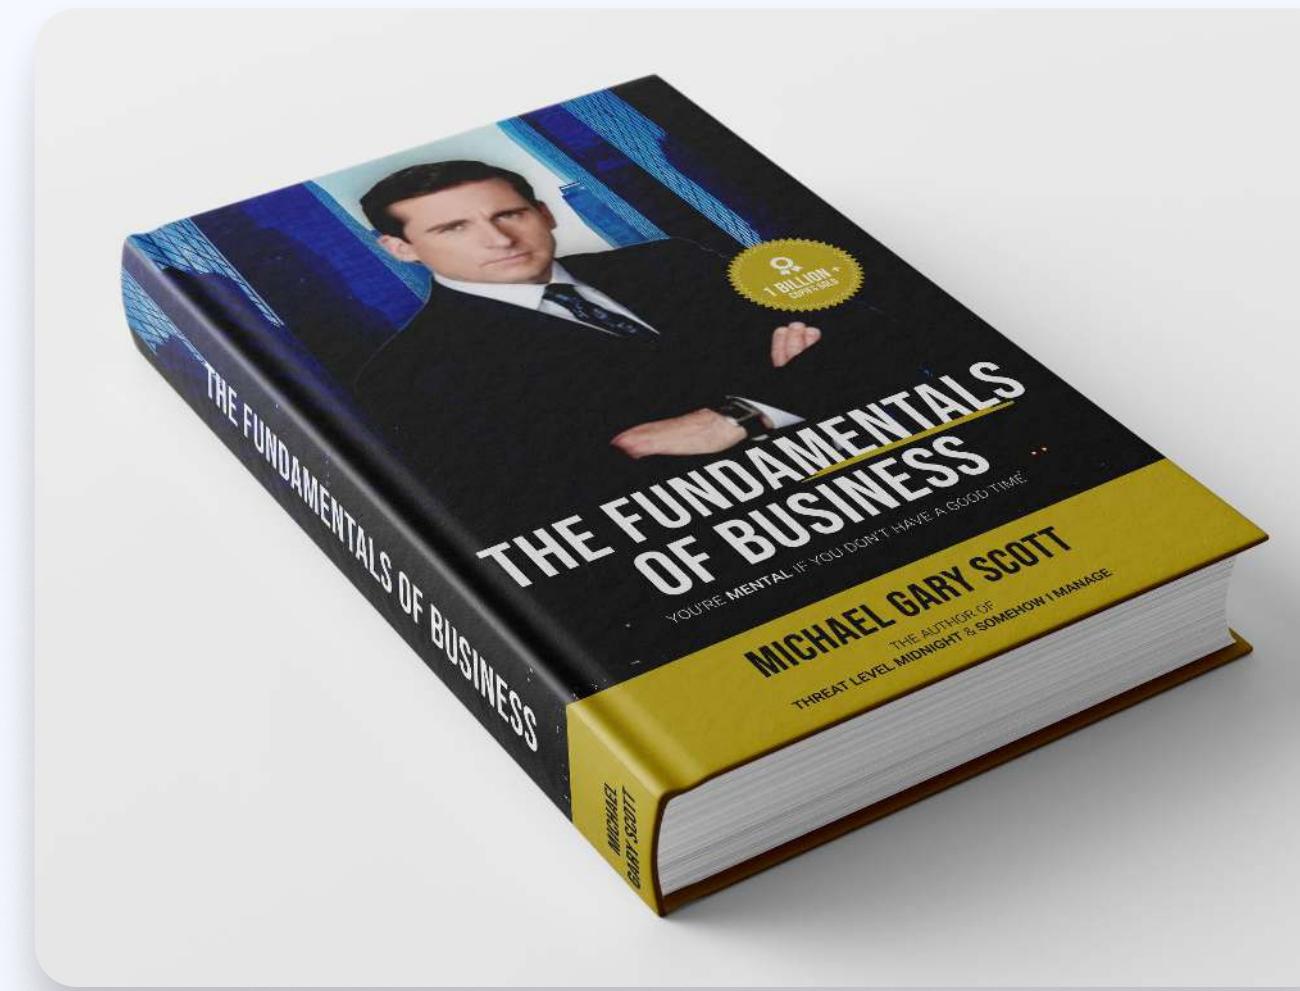

GRAPHIC DESIGN

The Dunder Mifflin Creative Universe

As a huge fan, this was a project driven by pure obsession. The challenge wasn't just designing a book cover, but creating a visual brand identity for each character's fictional masterpiece—from Michael's serious self-help attempt to Toby's murder mysteries. This showcased my ability to handle complex conceptual briefs and maintain high visual standards across disparate media.
